In addition, a Transmission Service Agreement may be required for interconnection of a DSP. A form Transmission Service Agreement is included with this Tariff in Section 5.12. Sharyland reserves the right to deviate from the form Transmission Service Agreement upon terms that are mutually agreed with the counterparty.

- (E) the eligible Transmission Service Customer has constructed, maintains and operates the facilities on its side of each Point of Interconnection that are necessary to reliably interconnect and deliver power from a resource to Sharyland's transmission system or from Sharyland's transmission system to the Transmission Service Customer's loads;
- (F) to the extent that the Interconnection Agreement requires the addition of facilities or upgrades to the transmission system, such facilities have been placed in service; and
- (G) the eligible Transmission Service Customer has complied with all Transmission Rules.

Sharyland reserves the right, consistent with Good Utility Practice and on a non-discriminatory basis, to interrupt Transmission Service without liability on Sharyland's part for the purpose of making necessary adjustments to, changes in, or repairs to its lines, substations, and other facilities, or where the continuance of Transmission Service would endanger persons or property. In the event of any adverse condition or disturbance on Sharyland's system or any other system directly or indirectly interconnected with Sharyland's system, Sharyland, consistent with Good Utility Practice, also may interrupt Transmission Service on a non-discriminatory basis in order to limit the extent or damage of the adverse condition or disturbance, to prevent damage to generating or transmission facilities, or to expedite restoration of service.
